Our Products

Chainlink

Also known as wire mesh or cyclone fencing, is a type of woven fence made from galvanized or coated steel wire that forms a characteristic diamond pattern.

Features:

- The fence is constructed from interlocked steel wires bent into a zigzag pattern, forming the mesh fabric. This fabric is supported by a framework of terminal posts, line posts, and top rails.
- Constructed primarily of galvanized steel, chain-link fences resist rust and corrosion and can withstand harsh weather conditions, including high winds, rain, and snow. A properly installed fence can last anywhere from 15 to 30 years with minimal maintenance.
- Chain-link fencing is one of the most budget-friendly options available, due to lower material and labor costs compared to materials like wood or vinyl.
